STATE
YEAR

Comptroller's Report.

Comptroller's Office, State of Florida,
Tallahassee, January 1st, 1907.

Hon. N. B. Broward,
Governor of Florida.

SIR:

In pursuance of the requirements of law, I have the honor to transmit herewith a report of my official acts and proceedings for the fiscal year ending December 31st, 1906.

VALUATION AND TAXATION.

The assessment rolls for the year, A. D. 1906, show the valuation of property for assessment purposes to be as follows:

Real estate.	$ 89,081,434
Personal Property.	26,994,593
Railroads.	25,570,251
Telegraph lines.	372,593

Aggregate.$142,018,871

The aggregate valuation for, A. D. 1901 was $97,551,192, and the aggregate valuation as above stated for, A. D. 1906 is $142,018,871, which shows an increase of $44,467,679 in the last five years.

The law provides for the assessment of all property at its cash value, but it should be evident that the purpose of the law is not accomplished as the aggregate cash value of the property in this State is far in excess of $142,018,871. It is difficult, however, to determine just what method could be adopted to secure better results. The subject of taxation has been a vexed question for centuries, and, notwithstanding the heroic efforts of succeeding generations of those charged with its solution, the subject still affords the widest latitude for discussion.

Section 1 of Article IX of the State Constitution provides for "a uniform and equal rate of taxation," and that laws shall be enacted that "shall secure a just valuation of all property," and the laws now in force are so framed as to conform, in a measure, to these requirements, but the manner in which the law has been carried out indicates clearly that "uniform" action in making assessments has not resulted from it. In many instances the cash value of property is assessed because it is so returned, but there seems to be a great variety of opinions in regard to fixing the basis for the value of real and personal property for assessment purposes, and the result is an aggregate valuation that does not represent the value of the property of the State. This necessitates a higher rate of taxation for the State and counties in order that sufficient funds may be obtained to pay expenses. Besides this, the value of the property in the State is represented abroad at a figure that shows only a small percentage of its value. Immigrants are often influenced to keep away from a county where the tax rate is high, because the property is not valued as it should be for assessment purposes, and it would, in my opinion, be better for each and every county, if the property therein was assessed according to its actual cash value, and the rate of taxation reduced accordingly. This would have a strong tendency toward securing the uniform and equal rate of taxation contemplated by the Constitution, as the greater portion of the increase in valuation would fall on large property holders, who are not now assessed in the same proportion as the small property holders. Personal property, especially, is not returned for taxation in proportion to other property. Property amounting to millions of dollars, owned and subject to assessment as personal property, escapes taxation altogether because it is not returned. This is largely made up of stocks, bonds, securities and cash that should be assessed, but is not given in to the assessor, as the law directs.

As to what is the best method to secure the much desired uniform and equal rate of taxation, it would be difficult to say, because it has never yet been shown that an unfailing method can be devised; but a more general cooperation of the tax payers and more uniform action by the tax assessors with that end in view would certainly produce better results. The capital stock, surplus and undivided profits of corporations have been held by the United States and State courts to be subject to taxation, and our laws provide for the assessment thereof as other property is assessed, i. e., at its full cash value, but an examination of the assessment rolls sent to this office by the tax assessors of the counties will disclose that much of this class of property escapes taxation by the State, and when it is assessed, the valuation is placed at much less than its cash value.

In order that the ad valorem tax may be reduced to the minimum, further sources of revenue should be sought, and in this connection attention is called to that portion of the last report from this office relative to the taxation of "privileges and corporate franchises," in which it was stated that "The Supreme Court of the United States has repeatedly held that 'Privileges and corporate franchises are property which has value; produces income, and passes current in the markets of the world; and that it is a cardinal rule which should never be forgotten, that whatever property is worth for purposes of income and sale, it is also worth for purposes of taxation.'" There is no law in this State providing for the taxation of franchises, and the absence of such legislation has resulted in much unjust criticism of those charged with the enforcement of the laws relating to taxation, as the fact that franchises should, in justice, be taxed, is recognized by many who fail to examine the statutes under which the assessments are made before denouncing officials for failure to take the value of franchises into consideration when assessing property.

STATE BANKS.

The reports made to this office by the different State banks showing the condition thereof at the close of business on December 31, 1906, have been tabulated, and the following figures are given for information:

Capital invested.	$ 2,203,210.00
Surplus	620,782.07
Undivided profits.	503,678.74
Deposits.	12,134,555.73

Aggregate. $15,462,226.54

This is, indeed, a gratifying showing that will be more readily understood and appreciated when it is known that a large number of the State banks are less than three years old, and in many instances are pioneers in communities not accustomed to the use of banks, and not acquainted with the great benefits to be derived therefrom. These conditions naturally retard the progress of banks, but that there is growth even under such circumstances, and larger increase at other points, speaks in the strongest terms of the conservative management and strict business course pursued by State bank officials generally.

The regular and rigid examinations that have been made of all State banks, and the information and advice given by the examiner and from this office, have resulted in great good, and in some instances banks have thereby been actually saved from failure and placed on a sound footing. There can be no question as to the wisdom or necessity for the examination of State banks, when considered in the light of experience, and they are desired by all bank officials whose purpose is to conduct the banking business in accordance with sound banking principles, as such examinations are a source of satisfaction to them, as well as the surest method of securing and maintaining public confidence, upon which the banks are absolutely dependent for business. Before the regular examination of State banks was commenced, the absence of such examinations proved very detrimental to State banks, as confidence could then be best obtained by national banks that were examined regularly by national bank examiners, and in some instances State banks were changed to national banks for this reason, but this has been overcome since the regular examination of State banks was commenced, and every stockholder and depositor in a State bank now has the satisfaction of knowing that the State is looking out for his interest. The rapid increase in State banks in the past two years is the very best indication that the examination of such banks is not only the proper course to pursue, but that confidence is thereby created.

When a bank is organized under the laws of the State, every stockholder therein, as well as every depositor, is entitled to have every safeguard thrown around such organizations as it is possible for the law makers to devise, and the fact that a bank is chartered by the State, creates a responsibility on the part of the State that cannot be ignored. Banks are not like other corporations where only the money of the stockholder is involved. A bank has stockholders who are entitled to consideration from the State, and it also has depositors who put their hard earned savings in the bank for use in conducting their business or for use in cases of necessity, and while there are no means of determining just how much of such deposits are made solely on the ground that the State granted the charter, it is well known that much money is deposited for this reason.

In order that the examination of State banks may be placed upon a more satisfactory basis, it would be advisable to provide more adequately for the examination of State banks, fixing a suitable compensation for the ability and responsibility required in performing such duties and for a graded fee to be paid into the State Treasury by each bank examined. In this connection, attention is called to the following extract from the last report made to Congress by the Comptroller of the Currency:

"The Comptroller would again respectfully call the attention of Congress to the necessity of a change in the system of bank examinations, and renew his recommendation made in the report for 1905, that the bank examiners be paid salaries, by the day, instead of fees, as at present.

"This is a matter of very great importance in the interest of good administration, and the effective supervision of national banks. Every Comptroller of the Currency has agreed in this opinion, and has recommended that this change be made. The examination and supervision of national banks will never be what it should be, until this recommendation is carried out."

The number of small banks and the want of proximity makes the expense of examination under the existing law too burdensome for frequent examinations, and the best results cannot be obtained by simply making an annual examination in every case. Sometimes it is absolutely necessary to have frequent examinations, especially with new banks whose officials are not experienced. There ought to be legislation requiring the receivers of banks appointed by the courts, to make reports also to this office, in order that the interests of the stockholders and depositors may have the same supervision in their interest as was exercised before the failure, and appointment of a receiver, and the attention of the court could then be called to such matters as might, in the opinion of the Comptroller, be advisable to subserve all parties concerned.

PENSIONS.

As will appear elsewhere in this report, there were 325 pensioners added to the roll during 1906, and there are now about 3,200 pensioners drawing pensions from the State. Of this number, there may be a number who are not justly entitled to receive anything under the law, as in a number of instances it has been shown that deserters and others not so entitled have, by misrepresentations and possible misunderstanding, been placed on the pension roll in the past, but while these were dropped it has been impossible for the Pension Board, as now constituted, to make a personal examination on the ground, so as to determine the justice of the claim, and for the same reason it has been necessary for the board to proceed with the greatest care in passing claims. The law should be so amended as to provide means for a determination of all claims, and to make the list of pensioners a roll of honor, as originally intended.

Provisions should be made for transferring the pension of an old soldier or sailor to his widow from the date of his death, upon proof that she was the widow of the deceased, and length of residence and date of marriage, without requiring that she should make further proof as to service of her deceased husband. This suggestion is made on account of the delay that necessarily occurs in the preparation of proof and the distress and annoyance experienced by widows who are not in the best condition to transact business of this nature immediately after the death of their husbands, and with the belief that every aid should be given to facilitate the transfer of pensions already allowed, from the husband to the widow.

TELEGRAPH COMPANIES.

Section 497 of the General Statutes of the State of Florida, provides as follows:

"All telegraph companies now doing business under separate names, whether incorporated under the laws of this State or any other State, or whether incorporated at all, or not, shall, on the first day of October of each year pay to the State Comptroller a license tax of five hundred dollars for State purposes, and no further license tax shall be required by any county or municipality: Provided, that private telephone lines, not for public use, shall be exempt from such license tax. Consolidations shall not be exempt from this tax."

This license tax must be paid by each and every telegraph company, regardless of the length of line, and in the case of short lines works injuriously, by preventing them from taking business or forcing a merger with other lines, and the law should be changed so as to require a license tax based on mileage so as to make the law as nearly uniform and equal as possible.

TAX SALE CERTIFICATES.

The Tax Redemption Department, under the supervision of this office, has handled a large amount of business during the past year, and the work has been accurately performed. The amount of money distributed to the State and counties in 1906 was $133,055.02, of which $61,776.05 was sent to the counties, and $71,278.97 was paid into the State Treasury. There are many details involved in the verification, distribution and record of the thousands of transactions passing through the hands of the clerks in this department, requiring time and accuracy.

WARRANTS ISSUED.

During the year 1906 there were 18,361 warrants drawn in this office on the State Treasurer, in payment of claims against the State, and the auditing of these claims involved an immense amount of labor on the part of the experienced clerks employed for the purpose. A statement showing on what account these warrants were issued appears elsewhere in this report.

RAILROADS AND TELEGRAPH LINES.

All of the railroad and telegraph lines were assessed for the year 1906, and the taxes thereon have been duly paid, except the taxes on two railroads for which warrants were issued and the payment of the tax having been resisted, the matter is now before the courts for adjudication.

Section 549 of the General Statutes of the State of Florida, under which railroads are assessed, provides as follows:

"The president and secretary, or superintendent or manager of any railroad company or street railroad, or receiver of any railroad, whose track or roadbed or any part thereof is in this State, shall annually, on or before the first Monday in March, return to the Comptroller of the State, under their oath, the total length of such railroad, the total length and value of such main track, branch, switch and spur track and side track, lots or parts of lots not leased or rented and terminal facilities in this State, and the total length and value thereof in each county, city or incorporated town in this State, as of the first day of January; they shall also make return of the number, and value of all the locomotives, engines, passenger, freight, platform, construction and other cars and appurtenances; and should any railroad company, or any of its officers, fail to make the return required by this act, on or before the first Monday of March, or should the Comptroller have reason to believe that any return so made does not give complete and correct value of such railroad and property, the Comptroller, with the assistance and advice of the Attorney General and Treasurer of the State, shall have power to assess the same from the best information they can obtain, specifying the value thereof in each county. And the value of the locomotives, engines, passenger, freight, platform, construction and other cars and appurtenances shall be apportioned by the Comptroller pro-rata, to each mile of main track, branch, switch, spur track and side track; and the Comptroller shall notify the assessor of each county through which such railroad runs, of the number of miles of track, and the value thereof, and the proportionate value of personal property taxable in their respective counties, and he shall notify each incorporated city and town into which said railroad runs, of the mileage apportionment of rolling stock and other property of said railroad within such town or city, and the value thereof shall be assessed by such city or town, as provided by law, and upon the value thus ascertained and apportioned taxes shall be assessed the same as upon the property of individuals."

It will be seen that the property to be assessed must be visible, and the physical or tangible value alone can be considered. No reference is made to the franchise or intangible value of the property, and no power is given to consider the same in making the assessment.

Section 550 provides for the assessment of telegraph lines in the same manner as railroads are assessed.

GENERAL REVENUE FUND.

This fund was originally intended to provide for the payment of the current expenses of the Legislative, Executive and Judicial Departments, and tax levies were made accordingly, but from time to time appropriations have been made for various purposes not connected with the regular expenses of either of said departments, and such appropriations, in the absence of any specific levy of taxes therefor were made payable from the general revenue fund. In many instances these appropriations have been large, and have added so much to the expenditures from this fund as to create the erroneous impression in the minds of many of our citizens that there was a rapid increase in the expenses of the Legislative, Executive and Judicial Departments of the State Government. It is true that there has been a slight increase in the expenses of these departments, owing to the growth in population and the resultant increase in the business to be transacted, but the additional expenses created in this way constitute only a small item of the increased demands made by legislative action on the general revenue fund, and the tax payers should be fully advised on all subjects relating to taxation. To this end, appropriations made for other than the actual expenses of the Legislative, Executive and Judicial Departments should carry with them an express provision for the levy of taxes to meet each appropriation in specific terms, i. e., the law should provide for the levy of a tax and the disbursement thereof in each case, in the same manner as the tax is levied for the use of the State Board of Health and for Pensions. This course would give the tax payers a correct understanding of the purpose for which the taxes were levied. The expenses of the Legislative, Executive and Judicial Departments could then be clearly shown at the actual figures required therefor, without having them mixed with appropriations for other purposes. The actual expenses of these departments could easily be paid out of the State license taxes alone, and still leave a large balance from that source that could be used for such other purposes as the Legislature might direct. In other words, the revenue from State licenses would pay all the expenses of the Legislative, Executive and Judicial Departments, and leave a good surplus without requiring the levy of one cent as a direct or ad valorem tax for that purpose.

BONDED DEBT.

There are no outstanding bonds of the State of Florida. The bonded debt of Florida simply represents amounts due to the educational funds of the State, as follows:
State School Fund—

Bond of 1901	$242,800.00
Bond of 1903	125,367.00	—$368,167.00
State Seminary Fund—
Bond of 1901	21,000.00
Bond of 1903	76,600.00	— 97,600.00
Agricultural College Fund—
Bond of 1901	3,900.00
Bond of 1903	131,900.00	— 135,800.00
		$601,567.00

On this indebtedness interest is paid by the State direct to the educational funds at the rate of three per cent. per annum.

CONCLUSION.

The accounts of the various State and county officers required by law to be kept in this office, the payment of commissions to tax assessors and collectors, the examination of reports of licenses and taxes collected, and all matters pertaining to the bookkeeping department, have received careful and prompt attention.

All State property has been insured, and the policies are on file in this office, in pursuance of law.

Every effort has been made to comply fully with all other provisions of law relating to the various and complex duties of this office.

Tabulated statements are hereto appended, giving detailed information as to the receipts, disbursements, warrants issued, estimated appropriations, railroad and telegraph assessments, etc.

Yours very truly,

A. C. CROOM, Comptroller.
